Hongkong, July 3nd, 1883.

THE views held on sanitary matters by the late Governor of this Colony are pretty well known. Sir John Pope Hennessy will long be famous for the minute in which he ordered the Colonial Surgeon and Surveyor-General to confer with the "Chinese Secretary," on sanitary matters, that official having received instructions to ascertain the opinions of the leading Chinese on the subject. The experience and knowledge of the two officials above were to go for nothing; the insanitary condition of Taipingshan as exposed by Dr. raceous bodies, led the inventor of Sanitas to en- to within 20 li of the gates. of some Chinese towns as depicted by the medical men in the Imperial Muriti ne Customs' service. The last published volume of reports on the health of the Treaty ports lies before us. We turn first to Dr. HENRY's | hostile almost up to the gates of Kap-su-Inn." report on the health of Ichang. This city is beautifully situated, with healthful surroundings, and is naturally so healthy that we learn there is no malaria and no epidemic diseases begides small-pox. The absence of all proper drainage, however, is, Dr. HENRY says, a source of danger, and with the present habitations a low state of health is induced. Diseases of the skin are almost universal, and the natives are plagued with parasites. The town of Pakhoi, Dr. Loway tells us, is in "so horrible a condition that which states that M. Tricou has behaved so and are heavy and clumsy in throwing water. it is surprising there should be any healthy natives in the place." The plain near Pakhoi is very healthy and a most desirable place to reside on, but the town itself is positively dangerous. Some idea may be gained of the condition of it from the following description by Dr. Lowey:-To begin with, the streets are in an abominable condition of filth. Not the slightest attempt at clean. liness is tried; animal and voretable aubstances lie, decomposing on every side, the most noxious games being constantly given off. The privies are open, and place i, for convenience, in the most frequented parts. The houses themselves are no improvement on the streets, and onyone visiting those of the sick will not soon forget the odour perceived on entering the place. Every house was damp and foul, and along the floors of most of them I found small open gatters, emptying themselves into the street. Into these every household abomination found its way; and as they are soldom cleaned or flooded, it is not surprising there is sickness. The floors are damp, and can be nothing but excrement soddon; under them I found small drains at no distance from the surface, some passing along and emptying into the streets, while the remainder pass under the streets and under the houses on the other side, until they eventually reach the sea. The houses and streets of this town run parallel with each other, the highest street being 20-30 feet above the sea, while the lowest is close to the water's edge; consequently, in a dry season, an enormous amount of excrementitions matter lies fermenting under the floors,—and it is only to see if there was any probability of his getting when heavy rain comes that the place gets cleaneed. | s ship. This is truly shocking, but it is almost rivalled by a fearful condition of things in Shanghai revealed by Dr. Jamieson. That

People may exist in unclean surroundings, paying the usual penalty by incurring scrofula, skin diseases, and phthisis, but they do not, and cannot live healthily, and when any infectious disease breaks out among them it rapidly becomes a fatal scourge. The establishment of the Sanitary Board in this Colony has not been effected any too soon, and we trust that the good effects of its operations may quickly become apparent:

A pretty story is told of Moses Mendelssohn the founder of the family whose name has the sound of music in it. He was a hunchback, and a young Hamburg maiden rejected him because he was mis-shapen. He went to bid her good-bye and while he was making a last supreme effort at persuasion, she did not lift her eyes from her sewing. "Do you really think marriages are "and something especially wondering happened to me. At the birth of a child proclamation is made in heaven that he or she shall marry such and such a one. When I was born, my future wife was also named, but at the same time it was said, 'Atlas, she will have a dreadful hump on her back! 'Oh, heaven!' I said then, 'a deformed girl will become embittered and anhappy, whereas she should be beautiful. Dear Lord, give me the hump and let the maiden be well favoured and agreeable!"" The girl could not resist such woo. ing as that, and threw her arms around his neck.
